DEMO KEYNOTER CALLS ON NATION TO TURN REPUBLICANS OUT

CHICAGO, June 27.—(AP)—A biting attack on republican rule through three administration and a plea for a vote on repeal of the 18th amendment were laid before the democratic national convention today in the keynote speech of Speaker Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky.

The Kentuckian punched and jabbed unceasingly at his republican foes—calling the Harding administration the "darkest chapter of public betrayal in the history of this or any other nation"—heaping blame on President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon for an "orgue of speculation and inflation that had no foundation in real values," and terming the republican plank on prohibition "a promise of a continuation of scrap-lumber."

Barkley denounced President Hoover and republicans for the "obnoxious and indefensible rates" of the Smoot-Hawley tariff act and promised to lift tariff making above the sordid processes of log-rollers and back-scratchers.

The keynote gave over the major part of his speech to mistakes he charged to the republican party since 1920. He did go into the prohibition question rather deeply, however, and urged that the convention recommend the passage by congress of a resolution submitting to the people a referendum on the question of ratification by the people through state convention, whose delegates shall be chosen upon this issue alone.

Should Be Plain.

If the people are to pass again upon this question," he declared, "let them pass upon it in such bald, naked and unequivocal terms as to make their decision intelligible and certain."

The history of the stock market "boom" was recounted and blame for the collapse was placed on the leaders at the helm of the nation. Barkley said expenses of the national government had increased under President Coolidge "more than $550,000,000." He gave credit to the present democratic house for reducing President Hoover's requests for appropriations "by more than $100,000,000."

He bespoke enactment of laws setting up co-operative agencies through which the farmer may work out his own problems over a period of years along with a recommendation to take the government out of "the dubious adventure of speculation" in farm products, and installation at the head of the department of agriculture of a secretary who has "some knowledge of the subject and some sympathy for those who struggle with it."

To Abolish Useless Offices.

He promised that the democrats would "abolish every useless office, every unnecessary bureau and commission" and proposed that the democrats solve the tariff problem by inaugurating friendly international trade.

NEWSPAPER PLANTS INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP)—The bureau of internal revenue ruled today that newspaper plants are industrial enterprises and electrical energy consumed is therefore not taxable under the new revenue law.

The committee expects to conclude its labors tonight after a public hearing on farm relief. The unemployment relief, prohibition and agricultural planks remain to be drafted.

CHICAGO, June 27.—(AP)—Platform-building democrats faced today their first formal decision on the prohibition plank, saved for the last in recognition of its trouble-stirring qualities.

The Roosevelt dominated platform sub-committee was agreed on a proposal to submit a repeal amendment to the states; but a stubborn contest impends, both in the whole resolution committee and on the floor, for a declaration of the party for repeal and for immediate modification of the vetoed act.

More than two score other planks—carefully trimmed to one vote.

MERE REPEAL SUBMISSION AND PLEDGING PARTY FOR SAME IS DIFFERENCE

CHICAGO, June 27.—(AP)—The democratic platform committee was given notice today by Senator Walsh of Massachusetts he would take a report to the floor of the convention asking for a plank pledging the party to repeal the 18th amendment and immediate modification of the Volstead act.

Decision on the prohibition issue was deferred by the resolutions sub-committee until late in the day but there was every evidence that dominant Roosevelt forces would approve a plank calling for submission of a repeal amendment without committing the party to repeal.

Walsh is a member of the sub-committee. In taking a minority report to the convention, he will have the support of Alfred E. Smith and expects aid from most of the eastern states with a big vote.

EVIDENT REVOLT

SOUTHERN STATES CAUSE OF CHANGE

ROOSEVELT BACKS DOWN AFTER STATE CAUCUSES SHOWED SITUATION

CHICAGO, June 27.—(AP)—The Roosevelt order against continuation of the fight to eliminate the two-thirds rule was received at headquarters and promptly accepted as final by James A. Farley, head of the Roosevelt board of strategy.

With the Southern states in revolt against abrogation of the century-old rule at this time, the Roosevelt leaders have seen in conference during the morning considering a reversal of policy.

The switch came after a check up of the delegations showed the result on abrogation of the two-thirds rule to be hanging by a very narrow margin but the Rooseveltians insisted up to the last that they had the votes.

Whether the Roosevelt board of strategy here had conferred with the governor before his order came was not made known. The end of the fight for abrogation was signalled as the Roosevelt chief called in Southern leaders for conferences late in the morning after Alabama and North Carolina, two Roosevelt delegations, had overwhelmingly rejected the Roosevelt move to knock out the two-thirds rule.

Willing to stand on the two-thirds rule, the Roosevelt spokesmen still confidently predicted the nomination of the New York governor, obviously counting on the big bulk of New York's 94 votes to turn the trick.

However, the opposition was elated at the collapse of the fight for the two-thirds abrogation and was redoubling efforts to stop Roosevelt.

Senator Farley was in the middle of his keynote speech when word of the Roosevelt decision was reached but it quickly spread over the convention floor.

Senator Walsh of Montana, the Roosevelt candidate for the permanent chairmanship, said he was glad to hear of the governor's statement, because "it will dispose of a very controversial subject."

"In my judgment the governor is a good man," he said.

V. V. Dallen, leader of the downstate Illinois Roosevelt forces and one of the "key" floor men for Farley, interpreted the governor's action as "evidence that Roosevelt is a good man."

TEXAS DELEGATION USES LAST DAY OF LEISURE TO BATTLE FOR JOHN GARNER

By FRED DYE
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)
CHICAGO, June 27.—(AP)—Granting another day for negotiations by the Texas delegation, the Houston operation of the democratic national convention, the Texas-for-Garner delegation carried on its effort to ditch the Roosevelt bandwagon and pick up delegate votes for the speaker of the house.

Sam Rayburn, national head of the Garner forces, Senator Tom Connally, who will nominate Speaker Garner, and William Gibbs McAdoo, the California leader, wished them well in their fight for his friend Garner. Rogers was chewing his usual cud of gum until released by him, but two of the delegates said they would attend today's opening session of the convention and to continue to plug for Garner.

OPENING SESSION HARMONIOUS WHILE STRIKE UNDERNEATH

ROOSEVELT MEN MUCH IN EVIDENCE AS DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION OPENS

CHICAGO STADIUM, June 27.—(AP)—Striking a keynote of temporary harmony while they girded for the strife to come, the democratic national convention assembled today in the stadium with the fast-spurring Roosevelt legions holding the whip hand against a still desperately resisting opposition.

Roosevelt men swarmed the platform, taking over temporary organization, claiming a wide majority on every committee and fortifying themselves on every side against the desperate onslaught they must face when the big quadrennial show really gets down to business probably tomorrow.

Outwardly, the convention took note of its promised troubles. According to custom, only cut and dried formalities were on the calendar for opening day. Their high spot was the keynote speech by Senator Alben Barkley, the big-voiced Kentuckian chosen temporarily as chairman.

Out across the stadium there were plenty of signs of the approaching storm, however.

Leaders Confer Quietly.

Almost solemn despite the lilt of the stadium pipe organ and a bevy of bands, leaders gathered in knots to put their heads together and whisper.

Nearly every delegation was bedagged for its candidate.

The Marylanders, more than a hundred strong although they had but 16 votes among them, displayed high above their section huge placards urging the democracy to "win with Ritchie."

"Alfalfa" Bill Murray, who has his home state of Oklahoma and one delegate from North Dakota got to the hall an hour before the convening hour of noon.

Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi came in to look for fellow Mississippians and found only a row of empty benches.

Senator Huey Long, the Louisi-

STATE DELEGATIONS HELD CAUCUSES ON MONDAY MORNING

SEVERAL STATES VOTE AGAINST ABROGATION OF TWO-THIRDS RULE

CHICAGO, June 27.—(AP)—Discontent in the ranks of Roosevelt Southern delegations led some members of the board of strategy for the New York governor today to seriously consider abandonment of the fight against the two-thirds rule.

These leaders of Governor Roosevelt insisted that the votes were available by a narrow margin for abrogation of the two-thirds rule but they were concerned over the sharp reaction among some Southern delegations friendly to the New York governor.

As the convention opened, the Roosevelt board of strategy went into a new session to check up on the last minute result of state caucuses.

James A. Farley of New York, head of the board of strategy, insisted the Roosevelt group was going through with its fight but there was a division of opinion among the members.

Alabama and North Carolina voted overwhelmingly at their

TICKETS FOR FRIENDS IS VITAL ISSUE WITH RANK AND FILE OF DELEGATES TODAY

By KIRKE SIMPSON.
CHICAGO, June 27.—(AP)—To the rank and file of the Democratic faithful ready for the curtain-raiser session of the party convention, the most important question today was tickets.

Platform niceties and organization battle developments were in the hands of leaders in stuffy hotel rooms or the palatial private headquarters of the rival candidates.

But the precious pastboards that meant admission to the galleries for their friends were personal matters for Mr. and Mrs. Delegate. The ranks rumbled with gossip and scandalous whisperings of trickery over just who was getting in.

The delegates flocked over the two-mile route from the Michigan boulevard hotel front to the convention stadium quite as though today's session was not a cut and dried forework-less affair it was found to be.

Opening sessions of national conventions are always alike. They are given over to a strictly limited agend of keynoting and organization routine.

Not until tomorrow will the real business of the convention be reached. Then the upward of 2,000 delegates, alternates and officials, are the authoritative voice of the millions of Democratic voters at home, will say their say.

Yet there was no lack of the spectacular as the convention set its paying or invited guests—there were seats for more than 20,000 of them in the huge hall-gathered for the show. Echoes of the recent Republican convention might lurk about but the coloring of flags and bunting was bright as ever.

A deluge of rain swept the city late yesterday to ease a close, sweltering Sunday. It played havoc with the decorations along the wide boulevard and elsewhere.

But even the rain could not dampen the grin of delight on the features of the donkey head that had replaced a cavorting elephant in deference to party preferences.

That lop-eared head was the sure sign that Miss Democracy was in town to sward her highest party favors.

DEMOCRATIC HOSTS CHEER AS SPEAKERS LAMBAST OPPONENTS

ROOSEVELT LEADERS IN SADDLE, PLAN TO CHANGE TWO-THIRDS RULE WAGERS

CHICAGO, June 27.—(AP)

The first big demonstration of the democratic convention broke loose late today when Senator Barkley, the keynoter, urged a platform for submission of the question of repealing the Eighteenth amendment.

A great cheer swept the stadium as Senator Robert Jackson came down off the platform and urged the New Hampshire delegation to start a parade. It got under way with a bang and state after state fell into line and paraded down the crowded aisles.

In the Texas delegation the demonstration developed a fist fight. A passing delegate sought to bring the Lone Star standard into the slowly-moving parade. A march but a half dozen Texans shouted "We're sitting tight" and held the standard fast.

A bevy of police helped the sitting delegates, but a moment later some members of the delegation overpowered them and along went the marker down the aisle.

BY BYRON PRICE

(Associated Press Staff Writer.)
CHICAGO STADIUM, June 27.—(AP)—Cheering and demonstrating as its orators lambasted the republicans and as they urged the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, the democratic national convention began today with a session peaceful enough on the surface but encircled with a high tension of merely submission. Although the Roosevelt managers took temporary control of every convention agency, the crumbling of their support on the program of preliminary organization, too, was in prospect. The two-thirds nominating rule, some of them to consider abandoning the project entirely, rather than permit the issue to come to a doubtful decision tomorrow.

Conferees on this question proceeded among knots of delegates on the floor and behind the scenes as the convention went through a previously-agreed-on program of merely submission. The only chance seemed to be a steady growth of insurgency in the Roosevelt ranks.

Meanwhile, as one speaker after another, including John J. Raskob, the national chairman, and Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky, the keynoter, asked for a prohibition change, it developed that a floor fight on that question was in prospect. Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, an Al Smith supporter, said he would take to the convention itself a plank committing the party to repeal of the 18th amendment.

Raskob's espousal of a repeal submission plank was contained in a surprise speech, preceding that of the keynoter. He declared the time has come to do away with the reign of the dry law.

Barkley, long a prohibitionist, made almost the same recommendation.

CORSICANA, TEX., JUNE 28, 1932.
THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

In the very long and discursive platform adopted by the Republican convention, the average citizen struggling with his own private budget and watching how his taxes fail to fall with living costs, and even rise higher as various units of government discover more ways of raising revenue, looks for an adequate discussion of federal, state and local finances and a pledge to reduce them in conformity with the reduction of the national income.

What does that average citizen find? Anything condemning congress and other appropriating bodies for trying to raise as much and even more money than in the years of flush prosperity? No. He finds merely lip-service. "We urge prompt and drastic reduction of public expenditure and resistance to every appropriation not demonstrably necessary to the performance of the essential functions of government, national or local." And toward the end of the document a pledge "to devote ourselves fearlessly and unrelentingly to the task of eliminating abuses and extravagance and of drastically cutting the cost of government so as to reduce the heavy burden of taxation."

"By their fruits ye shall know them." These words come from a party which, in complete control of congress, increased the budget $270,000,000 in the depression year which ends this month, and in control of one house of congress has levied the highest taxes since the war, while it has consistently refused to support plan after plan proposed to it for eliminating waste and reducing excess costs of government.

The Republican convention had an excellent opportunity to get from its experts within and outside the government a detailed list of extravagances known and tolerated, and to place itself on record as committed to their abolition. Instead, it accepted without debate a general statement which has already been contradicted by the party's record. Truly, the mountain has labored and brought forth a mouse—a hybrid mouse of no known species, with a pedigree that has to be explained in foot-notes. Meanwhile the taxpayer is left slapping his flat pockets.

To cite but one instance of duty neglected, we call attention to the fact that the Congressional Directory lists no less than 88 "independent offices and establishments," and subordinate branches of such establishments, which are engaged either in spending money or thinking up ways in which money can be spent. Mind you, these are all outside the regular executive departments! And for these "independent establishments" congress appropriated for the current year the enormous sum of $1,145,994,423. They range all the way from the Veterans' Administration to the Commission of Fine Arts, by way of the Federal Radio Commission, the Mount Rushmore National Commission and the Personnel Classification Board, whatever that is. Many of these commissions are money spending bodies; others are advisory commissions which can recommend how money shall be spent.

Aside from these "establishments" there are a host of bureaus and offices within the regular departments, all with their hands out for taxpayers' money. There are publicity agents, whose peddled copy finds its way into the handiest wastebasket. There are bu-

The little garden plot I tread
To music of the rustling leaves
At evening, as the sky grows red
My coming with delight renews.
The sad and weary world of doubt
By climbing roses is shut out.

The pretty little blossoms there
Assail me with no grievous word
Of burdens difficult to bear.
Near-by there is a singing bird
Exultant that he lives to be
The happy tenant of a tree.

So still and calm the scene appears
The peonies have no woes to tell.
No rose remembers happier years
And on its losses loves to dwell.
And yet somehow I seem to feel
Plants suffer hurts they could reveal.

The tenderest little bloom I own
Has braved the cruel winds and cold;
Has had to make its way alone
Against destroying foes and mold.
Yet nothing in my little yard
Like man cries out that life is hard.

reus which duplicate the work of similar bureaus in other departments. And there are organizations which not even the Congressional Directory recognizes, such as the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle practice, which this year had $732,770 to spend.

Abuses are constantly coming to light, which impress congress far less than the proper ventilation of the senate chamber. The Veterans' Administration spends more than a billion a year under unscientific, piecemeal legislation rull of error, which permitted, for instance, William Wolff Smith, holder of a $9,000 job in the administration, to draw $187.50 a month "disability" pay, and gives the widow of a soldier who was killed in battle in France less than a veteran draws who contracted disease several years after returning to America.

Will the Republican party right these wrongs? No, because it would make trouble.

But it willingly sees congress spend $400,000 a year on battle monuments, and appropriates $25,000 for carving something in South Dakota, while it pledges itself to accomplish the impossible for the farmers, and promises to the states a control over liquor with one hand which it takes away with the other. A palpable straddle for votes, and nothing else.

For utter lack of any direction toward solving the basic problems which confront this nation and threaten it, we commend the platform which the Republican party adopted at Chicago.

THE PUBLIC HEALTH NURSE.

According to the United States Public Health Service, the public health nurse is a constructive force for the betterment of the individual, the family, and the community health. Her work has three aspects: It is educational, preventive, and curative. It is not a simple task to uproot habits which have become deeply entrenched especially when they are to be supplanted by other habits which are or seem to be less convenient or comfortable. Here is the public health nurse's first opportunity and responsibility—to explain and demonstrate to individuals the principle of personal hygiene and to help them apply it in their everyday living in their homes and schools and their workshops. Her second function is that of prevention of disease through early recognition of symptoms and through persuading men and women to seek medical advice before they are ill. Preventive measures include the supervision of expectant mothers, the supervision of the health of babies and preschool children, efforts to have the physical defects of children diagnosed and corrected, to assist in improving the sanitary conditions of homes and school buildings, to find undiscovered cases of tuberculosis, scarlet fever, and other communicable diseases and to stimulate the acceptance of protective measures for the prevention of diphtheria, scarlet fever, and typhoid fever. These and many other preventive activities are part of her daily routine.

The third function of the public health nurse is curative, assisting in restoring the sick to health. Actual nursing care in the homes of the poor often is part of the work of a public health nurse, and in this connection she not only cares for the indigent sick but teaches some of the family how to care for the sick in her absence. Illness of one member has its effect upon the health of others; and so hand in hand with caring for the sick goes the teaching of health and the prevention of disease.

The influence of the public health nurse should be far-reaching, because of her intimate contact with the home, and because of her ability to help with her own hands when there is sickness or suffering. Perhaps no approach gives the public health nurse a better entry into the homes of the people than that of caring for the sick. We have found that demonstration to the family of the practice of cleanliness, of sick-room hygiene, of skilled nursing care, does more to convert them almost unconsciously to a more healthful way of living than could be done by mere verbal instruction, no matter how carefully given.

To summarize briefly the activities of the public health nurse, it might be said she gives or assists in giving nursing care of the sick in their homes. She gives nursing care to mothers and new-born babies. She assists in the health supervision of babies, small children, and school children, with the especial purpose of preventing communicable disease; in securing the correction of physical defects; in correcting unhealthy habits; and in stimulating a desirable health status. The nurse is a factor in the health education of the community, through lectures, classes, exhibits, and other similar means which she may employ for attracting the public attention—all in the cause of better personal and public health.

Public health nurses are usually employed in the local health organization, the funds being supplied by either private or public agencies. Every town, city county should make her services available as a part of the activity of its health department. Of course, this means some outlay, either by the taxpayer or voluntary community group, in the same way it means an outlay for the business man to have a lawyer to keep him clear of the courts. And for you, just as for that business man, prevention pays in the end, and pays well.

RAW "OFFICIAL BUSINESS."

About the thinnest, most bankrupt and undisguised political piffle we have read in a long time reaches the newspapers as "official business," under the frank of the Postoffice Department, Washington, D. C., in one of those envelopes also inscribed "penalty for private use to avoid payment of postage, $300." "The history of the Democratic party is one of criticism and destruction" and "I am grateful for the opportunity to speak to you this evening as a Republican who believes in his party" illustrate the six pages of contents.

It comes from the postoffice department itself and, presumably, the sender was the author of the speech, Mr. Arch Coleman, first assistant postmaster-general. Inasmuch as that official makes the postmaster apogee, and is the chief postoffice politician, it is not surprising that he went to Jackson Heights, Long Island, last week and delivered a purely political speech to a Republican club there. But the transmission to the newspapers in this manner is another thing which, we contend, is vividly illustrative of the costs thrust by political abuses upon the postoffice department which, to a large extent, account for a postoffice annual deficit now up to $150,000,000 a year.

Under Section 485, Postal Laws and Regulations, Mr. Coleman, like any other government official, can legally send in the mails, free of postage, only "letters, packages or other matters relating exclusively to the business of the government of the United States." We denominated it a case in which the "penalty for private use to avoid payment of postage, $300," should be assessed and collected.

Since tickets to the Chicago convention were bought, like circus pasteboards, it's strange the Democrats haven't billed the town, "Wait for the Big Show."

Revealing how the power of the once-great Capone has dwindled, a lieutenant was found posing at the Chicago convention as a mere assistant sergeant-at-arms.

PARENTS AND YOUTH.

Little is accomplished by the fierce scoldings for the transgressions of their offspring which it is the fashion, just now, to give the parent class. Parental discipline may be more lax than in some earlier generations, but, if modern youth can transfer responsibility for their faults and failings to their parents, why can not the modern parents plead that they are just as their own parents taught them to be, or let them be, and so start a buck-passing sequence extending back to the upbringing of Adam and Eve?

Possibly the loudly proclaimed grievances are to a considerable extent imaginary. Every now and then there sounds above the chorus of "something must be done about it" a voice or two that suggests the possibility that youth and the ways of youth are not particularly new phenomena—that modern youth is essentially the same as were the complaining elders in their own youth.

Parenthood, in the opinion of many, is more or less of a thankless job anyway and the current attacks on the competency of the modern parent won't make the position any more attractive. When a boy or girl goes wrong in this most remarkable of ages the erring child is joined by society in blaming the parent. But when youth ascends to the heights of glory and achievement he is acclaimed by the popular as a "self-made man" who has won in spite of his parents. And if he protests that he owes all to his parents the press labels it "sob-stuff."

Personally we should never care to have the Four Horsemen of bridge playing cards on the premises, with all those horses falling over lamp cords.

ABSENTEE VOTING RULES ANNOUNCED FIRST PRIMARY

Absentee voting rules this year have been outlined by L. C. Morgan, county clerk, and according to the regulations, pertaining to the casting of absentee ballots, this voting can start not earlier than July 3 and not later than July 19 for the first democratic primary election which will be held Saturday, July 23.

Absentee voting when the person makes a personal appearance at the county clerk's office will be made upon the presentation of a poll tax receipt, exemption certificate or on proper affidavit, and then a ballot will be given the voter. The county clerk will place the ballot in a sealed envelope and then the absentee ballot will be delivered to the proper election judge in the precinct in which the voter resides. When absentee voting is sought through the mails the application must be accompanied by the poll tax receipt or exemption. The voter must make a written application to the county clerk for the ballot when the request is not made by personal appearance at the clerk's office, Mr. Morgan stated.

Wheat and Cotton For Red Cross As Relief Measure

WASHINGTON, June 24.—(P)—The senate today passed a bill authorizing the Red Cross to use as additional 50,000,000 bushels of farm board wheat for relief. The senate substituted its own bill for the measure already passed by the house under which the Red Cross would get 40,000,000 bushels of wheat and 500,000 bales of cotton.

The bill went through by unanimous consent and without debate and will now go to conference with the house measure to compose differences between the two branches.

BLOOMING GROVE IS PREPARING FOR ITS NINTH ANNUAL FAIR

BLOOMING GROVE, June 25.—(Spl.)—Chas. N. Dillingham, president of the Blooming Grove Fair, Inc., announced preparations for the ninth annual show to be held September 29, 30, and Oct. 1, at the fair grounds in Blooming Grove are well under way and that inquiries are being received daily from interested exhibitors.

The Blooming Grove Fair, Inc., started nine years ago as a poultry show. Enthusiasm resulting from this first attempt led after four years of steady growth to the incorporation under the broader title of Blooming Grove Fair, Inc., because the show has grown to be by far the largest fair in Navarro county, and has generally been accepted as the county fair. Since the fair was incorporated in 1927 approximately $5,000 have been invested in buildings and sheds on the permanent fair grounds.

The Blooming Grove Fair has weathered the storm of the past two seasons and is entering the ninth annual event with money in the treasury and with no obligations, reports T. M. George, Jr., secretary.

Preliminary preparations are being made to take care of the past two seasons and several hundred head of livestock in the 1932 show.

HOUSE COMMITTEE APPROVES RAINEY FARM RELIEF BILL

WASHINGTON, June 25.—(A)—An emergency one year farm relief bill sponsored by Representative Rainey, the Democratic leader, was approved today by the

The domestic allotment plan of farm relief and, although originally intended to apply only to wheat, cotton and hops, was amended to include the production of other staple commodities, including corn, tobacco, livestock and dairy products. It directs the secretary of agriculture to determine the percentage of the crop to cultivate other than a commodity that will be in excess for domestic consumption.

Each producer then is issued adjustment certificates covering his share of the domestic allotment of his consumption of his produce. These certificates would be redeemable at their face value, the money to be paid by the producer out of a "domestic adjustment fund."

This fund would be obtained by an adjustment charge levied on the processor, equal to the amount of the adjustment charge on the commodity. For example, if the charge for 42 cents a bushel, for cotton five cents a pound, and for hogs two cents a pound, the processor would be refunded the adjustment charge on all commodities exported.

LEMON BLEACHES

One of the most effective bleaches you can use is lemon—certainly it is one of the cheapest. Here in Hollywood large, juicy lemons sell for 10 the skin and it bleaches. It is a wonderful way of keeping down sunburn on the back of the neck, where the skin gets too brown. I suggest having two bottles of cents a dozen, and lesser qualities for five cents. Along the motor roads past the immense valley filled with citrus trees, bags of lemons sell for less than that. But even if you pay 25 cents a dozen, lemon bleach remains about the cheapest cosmetic you can use.

A very good idea is for you to keep a small bottle, something that corks tightly, and fill it with lemon juice. Any of those tiny bottles that come with nail bleach or cuticle softener will do excellently. Keep a fairly large orange-wood stick as well. Dip this, using cotton or not, into the juice, and run all around the edges of the nails and under them, after you have given them a good scrubbing. This bleaches them without being too drying and help to keep back the cuticle that grows so fast over each nail. Rub away with your stick around each nail, and then rinse off the lemon. But lemon juice into another and a larger bottle—an eight ounce size is good. Four ounces of lemon juice, two or rose water (or boiled water) and two of fine grain glycerine. After you have washed your neck or your arms, rub them with this. It softens bleach among your beauty things, because of the convenience of this manner of keeping the juice. If you use lemon to bleach the hair, it is easier to strain off the juice of a couple of lemons and pour it into the last rinse water. It is a good thing, too, to save the lemon shells when they have been squeezed, just to dig the nails into them, for the juice of even a well squeezed lemon is bleaching. And the fingernails can stand a good deal of bleaching these days.

Dot—An exercise for reducing the thighs and back of the hips is done as follows: Stand with one foot slightly in advance of the other and with hands on hips, crouch until you all but sit upon the rear foot, which will necessarily have the heel raised, while the foot bends by reason of the bending knees during the effort of crouching. Rise to original position, then crouch again, repeating these movements at least 10 times and much more if you need reduction. The thigh muscles are very strong and will not tire easily, so you are not apt to overdo the exercises while a great deal of it may be taken.

CONGRESS IS BADLY MIXED ON ECONOMY AND RELIEF PLANS

SENATE BENDS ENERGIES TO PASSING OF ANNUAL APPROPRIATION BILLS

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP)—Relief economy and money legislation were tied up today as a congressional whirlwind that nobody was sure just what the storm would leave behind.

The senate for the time being held the key to relief of the problems involved. Its leaders had a sort of reserve force of adjournment Saturday but bent their immediate efforts toward passage of annual appropriation bills that should be law by the beginning of the new fiscal year at midnight Thursday. Otherwise, most of the government departments legally would have no money to spend.

The two biggest annual money measures of the congress—those supplying nearly two billion dollars for the treasury, postoffice and independent offices—were before the senate. Their passage was necessary so they could be sent to conference along with six others already there for an adjustment of differences between the house and senate bills.

But relief came from the most bothersome bar toward adjournment. House and senate conferees on the $2,300,000,000 Garner-Wagner bill wondered how they might shape a measure to suit President Hoover. They were bound by votes of their respective chambers, to agree on a public buildings program the president desired like.

Besides all these things, congress also had to worry about its last half of the budget-balancing program, the $150,000,000 to $175,000,000 economy bill.

Fall Consider Wilkerson.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP)—The senate judiciary committee today filed to consider the contested nomination of Judge James H. Wilkerson of Chicago for promotion to the chief court bench, probably killing action at this session.

Under existing laws, if congress adjourns for more than 30 days, nominations die. President Hoover, however, could give him a recess appointment.

Economy Bill Relayed.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP)—The much-contested national economy bill today seemed headed for additional delay before becoming law.

The senate sent the $150,000,000 measure back to conference Friday. Today Speaker Garner said he would reappoint the same house conferees, two of whom are in Chicago.

Chairman McDuffie of the house group will not return until Wednesday night. Another member is expected back about the same time.

This would delay another meeting until Thursday, last day of the conference.

"I'm not going to appoint new conferees," Garner said. "I'll name the same ones if we stay here until August."

Old Law Repealed.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP)—The senate voted today to repeal a law passed in 1886 on being signed by the president which was designed to facilitate the operation of trade unions, was being used for formation of companies in Texas to insure married couples against divorce.

Under the act, which provides a simple method of incorporation in the District of Columbia, 27 such organizations were reported to have been formed in the last few years. The repeal bill, sponsored by Senator Sheppard, now goes to the house.

Speaker Garner In Personal Appeal For Jobless Relief Bill

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP)—Intent on obtaining passage of adequate relief legislation, Speaker Garner today appeared before senate and house conferees seeking an agreement on the $2,300,000,000 jobless aid bill.

The conferees considered it for nearly three hours and then broke up without agreement, to meet again later today.

Chairman Norbeck of the senate managers indicated, however, there was a disposition to accept President Hoover's desire that the states be made on a basis of need instead of population.

The national economy bill—the second vital link in adjustment plans—was stalled in conference, with Garner saying he would reappoint the same house conferees, two of whom are in Chicago, to compose house and senate differences. The senate conferees will not return before Wednesday.

Kerens Theatre Burned Sunday; Origin Unknown

KERENS, June 27.—(Special)—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Palace theatre here about 7:30 Sunday morning. Full extent of the loss had not been determined Monday but was believed to be in excess of $4,000, partially covered by insurance.

The building, which shows considerable gutting, and the office of Joe Sheppard was damaged.

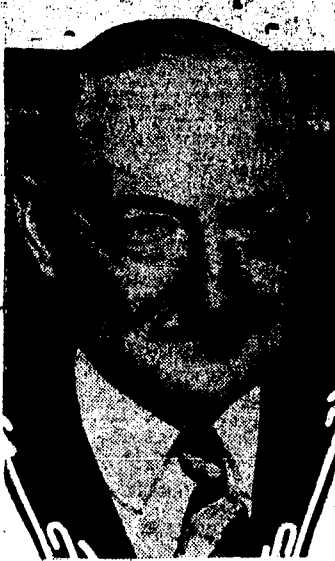

The theatre was owned by Ed E. Garrett, while the building was the property of J. M. Fendley. Kerens is now left without a theatre of any kind.

Personnel of Board Equalization Changed

Two new members of the board of equalization have been named to serve this year. J. W. Adams announced Monday morning. The board is now composed of C. G. Davidson, C. C. Roberts and Harris Ransom. They were scheduled to have the oath of office administered here today at 1:30 and start work on this year's tax rolls immediately.

Messrs Davidson and Ransom replaced R. D. Fleming and C. C. Roberts.

Convention Sphinx

John F. Curry, of New York, leader of Tammany, who is regarded in many circles as holding the key to the nomination of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York at the Democratic national convention.

However, Curry has so far refused to commit himself or his delegation, asserting that his party is seeking the best man.

BRISK EXCHANGE OVER PERMANENT CHAIRMAN MATTER

CHICAGO, June 26.—(AP)—A brisk exchange of fiery, pointed statements dealing with two of the bitter controversies the Democrats must overcome in the next few days, enlivened the convention yesterday.

Foremost was the issue of whether to seat J. P. Shouse or Senator Walsh as permanent chairman of the convention. Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, floor leader for Alfred E. Smith, and Shouse himself asserted Governor Roosevelt of New York had agreed on the latter of the post and then had broken faith seeking to seat Senator Walsh.

Speaking through James A. Farley, his chief representative, Shouse replied by denying that was the case and said never bound him to support Shouse.

Then, Shouse replied by quoting an agreement which he contended was made by telephone when the committee on arrangements was meeting in Chicago.

Others were steadily issuing statements for and against the seating of either the Roosevelt or the Smith group. The Roosevelt group are seeking to discard Samuel Untermyer, prominent New York attorney, called for elimination of the rule. Samuel Sheppard, New York City government investigator, took the opposite view.

Democrats

mentation in the course of a keynote speech which also asked for lower tariff rates and condemned the present "blundering" at Washington.

Only a few formalities, aside from that, were before the convention at its opening session. The delegates approved a temporary state of emergency by proclamation, set up and started to work its platform, credentials and rule committees, cheered Al Smith, Albert Ritchie, John W. Davis, Alfalfa Bill Murray and many others as they appeared in their places on the floor and listened to the reading of Jefferson's first inaugural address.

Altogether, it was a session alive with color and noise with an applause of its heroes but smothering its real controversies under a seemingly universal urge to have one convention day, at least, free from strife.

Adjourn Till Noon Tuesday

CHICAGO STADIUM, June 27.—(AP)—The first session of the Democratic National convention adjourned today at 4:08 p. m. The next session was scheduled to begin at noon tomorrow.

CHICAGO STADIUM, June 27.—(AP)—True to the promise of months of unanimous preparation, the democratic party opened its convention today keyed high with partisan enthusiasm but torn by internal strife over the choice of President Roosevelt for the presidency.

In the saddle temporarily, at least, the Roosevelt men took complete charge of temporary organization, having their way within opposition on every convention committee. The trouble stirring underneath was smoothed over for the moment by outward harmony as the big party on the floor and the many arranged motions of getting its work under way.

It was a cheering, seething convention, nevertheless. In old time style, it almost started parading and demonstrating before it was officially into being. On the floor the banners of nearly a dozen candidates recorded the rivalries which will come to their decision later.

Ovation For Leaders.

A crowded convention floor and but partly-filled galleries was swept with cheering applause again and again as many of the party's colorful figures of the party got up on the floor and platform. It was almost one continuous ovation as they came in one by one.

William C. McDonald, John W. Davis, Albert Ritchie, Alfalfa Bill Murray, Huey Long, James J. Walker, John J. Raskob and others. Big Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky the temporary chairman was greeted with an ovation of his own as he appeared on the flag draped platform to deliver the party keynote, the high peak of the largely out and dried program of first-day preliminary.

The real work of the convention begins late today when the committees meet to hear credentials, contests, write a platform, and take up many other party troubles, including the much embattled subject to the two-thirds rule.

Messrs Davidson and Ransom replaced R. D. Fleming and C. C. Roberts.

VETERANS PLAN TO DECIDE FUTURE ON FOURTH OF JULY

RESIGNATION OF COMMANDER AND OTHER MATTERS TO BE DECIDED THEN

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP)—Hunker threatened today the adjournment of the bonus marchers' army.

Police exhausted the food fund for the veterans and further replenishment of the treasury was not expected. They were unable to care for the tattered army.

With the increase of individual panhandling on the capital streets, donations have decreased to a few dollars a day. Police said they were far below the amount needed to care for the tattered army.

Captain William G. Stott, officer in charge of the veteran commissary, said the police would be unable to care for the veterans beyond today.

"The money is gone and unless there is more money from somewhere we can't do anything," he considered.

Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, said he hoped the exhausted food supply would lead many more veterans to quit the capital.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP)—Renewed communistic activities stirred the bonus-seeking war veterans encampments today as an aftermath of internal disputes within the ranks.

Six members of the Workers Ex-Servicemen's League, a communist organization, were arrested at one encampment and distributed a two-page bulletin attacking the veterans' leaders who were frantically trying to hold the rank and file in line.

The bulletin urged increased "unhappiness on the streets, and claimed credit for the resignation of Walter W. Waters, the veterans' recent commander-in-chief.

Trading was moderately active at the commissary houses and brokers with Wall Street connections. There was further a slight advance in the market, with the later months, largely taking the July without much change in the difference between the two months. The market was quiet and steady at the end of the first half hour when July futures closed at 5.25 and December 5.50, or about 2 to 5 points higher.

The executive committee has set July 4 for a convention at which the resignation of Walter W. Waters of Portland, Oregon, as commander-in-chief of the bonus expeditionary force will be considered.

At the same time, said W. B. Keyser, of Cleveland, head of the convention committee, the former soldiers will try to set up a permanent organization co-ordinating activities of all veterans of all wars.

Such co-ordination, Keyser said, would "promote the political, economic and social welfare of all veterans."

But police continued their efforts to get the veterans out of town. They dispatched letters to all congressmen whose districts sent bonus-seekers to Washington, asking them to see if their back home would provide money to pay railroad fare for the trip back.

Several representatives expressed a willingness to co-operate.

California Veterans Camped In Dallas

DALLAS, June 27.—(AP)—The California contingent of bonus seeking war veterans encamped today at Fair Park while its leaders arranged to continue the march to Washington tomorrow. There were 900 or more ex-soldiers and some 50 women and children in the "army," which drifted into Dallas by freight train and automobile.

The veterans, who are bound for the nation's capital to demand of congress immediate cash payment of the soldiers' bonus, planned to stage a "bonus rally" to-night at the park.

Meantime, the veterans relief association bustling about town gathering food and supplies for the contingent, which was fed last night on a convention day, at least, free from strife.

Governor Roosevelt In Close Touch With Chicago Convention

ALBANY, N. Y., June 27.—(AP)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt took up a radio ride, and set for the Chicago convention today.

Arriving at his office in the capitol for his usual business day, the candidate for the democratic presidential nomination brought with him a portable radio set tuned to receive the verbal picture of the fight in which he plays so prominent a part.

The New Yorker's contact with Chicago, while in his office, is not broken. He was in constant private telephone wire to his campaign headquarters in Chicago.

At 6:30 a. m., James A. Farley, manager of his campaign, and Louis Howe, the man in the "whispering post" for the Roosevelt forces, rang up the governor to report on the day's progress and may set for the convention opening today.

Former Resident Here Is State Candidate

L. A. Seymour, candidate for commissioner of agriculture, was a teacher in the Petty's Chapel school in 1894, the fifty-year-old man spent the next few years in Michigan home, according to T. J. Walton, one of his former pupils.

He also taught in a number of schools in Michigan.

RAIL TRANSPORTATION IS EFFICIENT AND ECONOMICAL

● THE RAILROAD is the most efficient and the most economical transportation agency the human mind has ever devised.

The ability of commercial trucks to operate with various charges for their services has been because they are not required to carry all kinds and classes of freight. The truck can choose its freight and is privileged to reject that which it cannot handle, either because it is not equipped for such heavy service or the rates are too low to be profitable. The railroad CANNOT DISCRIMINATE but must accept all freight offered it.

In 1930 the shippers of Texas paid the railroads $225,223,142 in freight charges. If the same volume and character of traffic had been carried by trucks it would have cost the shippers, according to the best available data on trucking costs, $900,000,000, or four times as much.

What will be the effect on the shippers of Texas if only the traffic which the trucks cannot handle is left to the railroads? If traffic paying the higher rate is taken from the railroads by the trucks, it will be necessary for the rail carriers to increase their rates on the low grade traffic or go out of business. The total transportation bill will be greatly increased.

The railroad rate structure is a composite designed for the purpose of enabling the free movement of ALL ARTICLES OF COMMERCE, making it possible to bring even the cheapest commodities into general use and distribution. Were it not for the low rates made available by the railroads on many low grade commodities and raw materials, their distribution and use would be impossible and all commerce and industry would be seriously affected.

● THE RAILROADS CANNOT SUBSIST ON LOW GRADE TRAFFIC ALONE.
